DEATH STAR TOSS

In order to defeat the Empire you must destroy the Death Star by damaging the exhaust port.

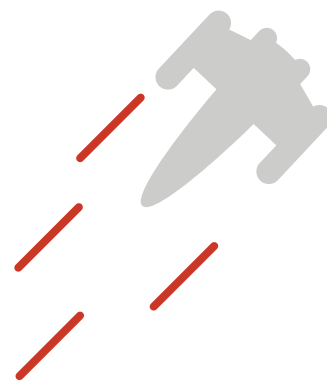

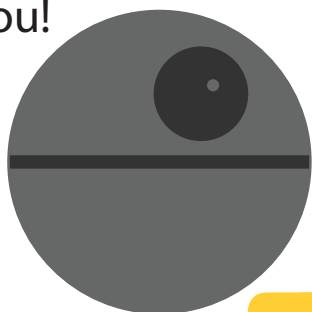

To practice hitting the small exhaust port on the Death Star create a tossing game. If you have a game of cornhole, take a piece of paper and draw a large gray circle as the Death Star. You can add as much detail as you would like. The hole of your corn hole game will be the exhaust port and should be positioned near the top half of the space station. Cut out the hole and attach your paper to the corn hole board. Use your toss beanbags as lasers.

If you do not have a cornhole game, you can create your own using cereal boxes. Begin by cutting a hole in the front of the cereal box. Be sure the hole is large enough for the object you will be tossing. Then, cut the long sides of the cereal box at a vertical angle so it will be at a slope when placed on a flat surface. Decorate the cereal box (now your corn hole game) if desired.

Practice hitting the exhaust port. The Rebel Alliance needs you!

TARGET PRACTICE

Practice your aim at some unsuspecting stormtroopers.

Use empty water bottles, empty toilet paper tubes, empty cans, or something else easy to stand up and knock over. Either draw stormtrooper faces with a permanent marker directly on your items or draw them on paper, cut them out, and attach.

Set your stormtroopers up at one end of your area. Here is where you can get creative. Use a standard bowling set up, leave them all in a row, stack them up on top of each other, or any way you choose.

To knock them over find something that rolls and is heavy enough to knock them over: a ball, an orange, balled up socks, or something completely wacky! If you have a nerf gun try using that. Roll or gently toss your object at your stormtroopers and see how many you can knock down!

JEDI TRAINING

Luke and Rey went through extensive training to become Jedi.

Set up your own Jedi training obstacle course. Use hoola hoops, boxes, jump ropes, balls, and other objects to create a course. Be sure to include jumping, climbing, running, and other skills such as, in, through, around, over. When conquering the course, be sure to train in different patterns: go in zig-zag, try doing things backwards, use a blindfold, etc.

LIGHTSABER SKILLS

Practice your lightsaber skills with this fun activity.

Every good Jedi must practice using their lightsaber! The younglings in the temple and Luke on the Millennium Falcon practiced hitting floating targets. To practice with your own floating targets use bubbles!

Create a lightsaber of your own. Pool noodles are great choices but you can also use Nerf swords, long balloons, tree sticks, or broom handles. You can even create mini lightsabers with chopsticks.

If you use something hard like a stick or broom, be sure to have a safe area around you so you do not accidentally hit anyone or anything besides bubbles and make sure your parents approve your lightsaber choice. Now let's test those skills! In your backyard or wide open space, have someone blow bubbles for you to hit with your lightsaber skills. And remember, Jedi only use lightsabers for defense and never to hurt people. Do not succumb to the dark side!

BINGO CALL LIST

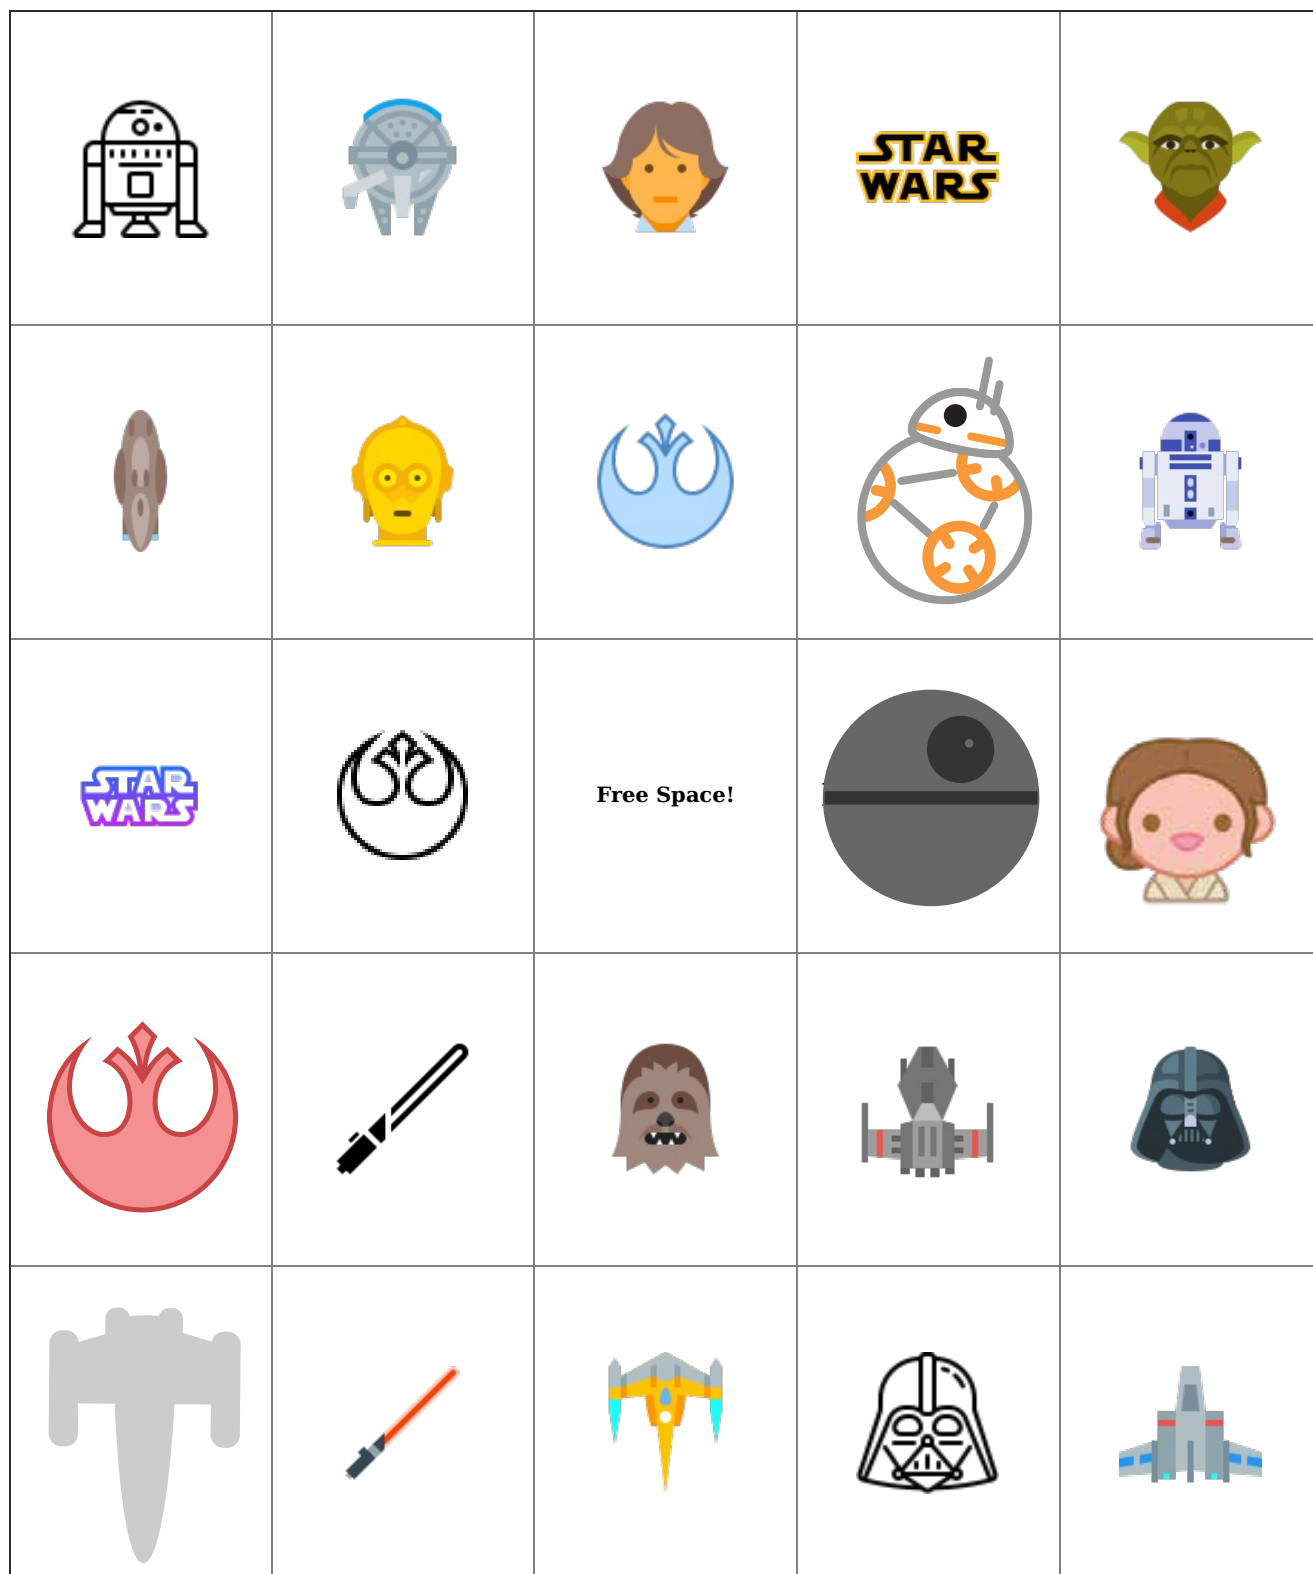

Print out the following game sheets and play Bingo with your family. They can use beans, rice, pieces of paper, or anything small to mark their game sheet. Cut out the squares from this Bingo call list and place in a bowl or hat. Have the Bingo caller pull one at a time for players to mark. Try different types on Bingo, five in a row, diagonal, X, or blackout.
